Moon Voyagers Set For Blastoff Today

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Seventeen, the last of America's proud Apollo flights to the moon, lifts into the dark on a column of fire tonight — a dazzling windup to an epoch of lunar exploration.

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt were pictured as "all charged and ready" for the 13-day journey that may be man's final visit in this century to his celestial neighbor.

The blastoff is scheduled for 9:53 p.m. EST. Despite the few ever-present hitches, launch officials called the countdown of Apollo 17 one of the most trouble-free in the 11-flight Apollo series.

The skyscraper-tall Saturn 5 rocket and its cargo of men, scientific equipment and sacrificial mice will rise with a hellish roar on a 2,200-foot tail of flame that may be visible 500 miles away.

For the half million or more people expected in the area, weather conditions were not perfect. The forecast called for considerable cloudiness at 12,000 feet — the altitude the rocket reaches in less than a minute.

Weather posed less problems for space officials. Launch director Walter Kapryan said there would be a threat to ontime liftoff only if upper-level clouds contain ice particles that might create lightning strikes as the rocket slices through. He discounted the possibility.

The wives and children of Cernan and Evans said goodbye to the astronauts across a glass barrier Tuesday night. Schmitt, a geologist and the first scientist to go to the moon, is a bachelor.

Most of the Apollo astronauts, including many of the 10 men who have walked the moon, are at the cape to watch the historic blast.

"There's a lot of good natured kidding between the veterans and the youngsters," said Adm. Alan Shepard, chief of the astronaut office and the first man in space.

"They're anxious to go," he said of Cernan, a two-flight veteran, and space rookies Evans and Schmitt. "They all seem to be feeling confident. They are all charged and ready for their part of the countdown."

The Apollo 17 astronauts have been sleeping later each day to adjust their biological timeclocks for an early afternoon wake-up. Their schedule calls for a light snack on arising, a medical examination in early evening and dinner 3½ hours before launch.

Although this is the last moon flight, it is not the end of space exploration. Three crews of three men each plan to man an earth-orbiting laboratory for periods of one and two months next year, and the space shuttle is in prospect for the late 1970s.

Cernan and Schmitt will land on the moon at 2:54 p.m. next Monday near the Taurus mountains and the Littrow crater in the northeast section of the moon. That area is scientifically interesting because it is expected to have the newest, as well as some of the oldest, rocks in the moon's 4.6 billion years of existence.

During their record 75 hours on the lunar surface, the astronauts will explore, collect samples and place experiments — leaving the lunar lander they call Challenger three times for seven-hour periods.

They plan to drive their moon car a total of 23 miles in quest of material that Schmitt said would "fill in missing chapters in the evolution of the moon — the first and the last."

He explained rocks returned by five previous moon-landing crews ranged in age from about 3 billion to 4.2 billion years old.

Ohio Senate Votes On Criminal Code

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 278-page revision of Ohio's criminal code that would legalize such offenses as homosexuality and adultery and set the stage for retention of the death penalty headed for a Senate floor vote today.

The Senate is to convene to consider the bill—first major revision of the criminal code in 157 years—at 1:30 p.m. The House will meet at 1 p.m., with nothing yet listed for a vote.

Two House committees—Finance and State Government—met last night, but were unable to put out for floor votes two other major measures.

One would have appropriated $69 million in federal revenue-sharing funds for the biennium ending June 30, 1973, while the other would have put a series of proposed constitutional amendments on the May primary ballot.

The Senate, in floor action, will vote today on an equal rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution. The measure, which has been pushed by women's organizations, has been in the Senate Rules Committee since April.

The chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, suggested pay raises of 17 per cent for legislators and 20 per cent for county officials. A sub-committee begins hearings at 9:30 a.m.

The criminal code will, which passed the House last March before capital punishment provisions were added, is considered almost a sure bet to end up in a joint House-Senate Conference Committee.

The Senate has already added a number of amendments to the measure, including the one that would allow Ohio to retain the death penalty under certain circumstances, such as the killing of a police officer or a public official.

The capital punishment provision, added after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the death penalty unconstitutional in most cases, has taken the spotlight away from the bill's sex crime changes.

Under the bill, current crimes such as homosexuality and adultery would be legalized if permitted by consenting adults in private.

The House Finance Committee, short of the necessary votes to move anything last night, will meet again today on the bill appropriating federal revenue-sharing funds.

The Republican-sponsored bill has already met opposition from Democrats who will control the House—as well as the governor's office—next year.

"There is simply no need or reason to rush the enactment of federal revenue-sharing appropriations without thorough study," said Robert Baker, assistant finance director.

"I know of no federal rule or regulation," he said, "which requires action today on the appropriation of federal revenue-sharing funds for fiscal year 1973."

The State Government Committee is studying five constitutional amendment proposals, including one that would require the governor and lieu-

Welfare Cutoff Plan To Wreck Ohio System?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio officials say a federal threat to withhold welfare funds until states tighten-up their payment procedures would "almost wreck" Ohio's welfare system.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare threatened Monday to withhold $689 million in federal matching funds starting Jan. 1 because the department said the money isn't being spent properly.

Acting Ohio Welfare Director Robert Canary called the charges "totally unreasonable."

Canary said the reason states often overpay welfare benefits or pay persons who aren't eligible for the money is that the federal government requires that recipients be registered under a "simplified method."

Canary said this means that all a person has to do to receive welfare is to sign a form which says he or she is eligible. The state runs spot checks on the validity of the forms, but not all of them can be verified.

"There are some recipients who will make mistakes and others who will deliberately misinform us," Canary said. "Sometimes we can catch these errors and sometimes we can't."

Canary said that if HEW goes ahead with the threatened cutbacks, Ohio would lose $20.9 million in federal funds. "That would almost wreck our welfare system," he said.

"I am waiting to get a copy of the new guidelines before I do anything in my department," he added. "I believe the federal government will have to modify its position."

"But if the federal government does begin withholding the funds, I'll just drop the simplified method of checking eligibility and check on every recipient before giving out any money."

Nicholas Drive On City Council Agenda

Circleville City Council Tuesday took two more steps toward the improvement of Nicholas Drive for which State Issue One funds have been approved.

The city fathers approved an ordinance authorizing the borrowing of $50,000 to purchase property to complete the improvement and to start construction of the improvement. They also passed an ordinance to purchase the property of Lulu M. Conkle located at the corner of Nicholas Drive and the Lancaster Pike.

City Service Director Atwood Jones reported the corner lot is needed to widen the radius on the turn at the intersection.

According to Jones, the city will purchase other very small parcels of real estate at intersections along Nicholas Drive where the radius of the turns needs to be widened.

According to the ordinance authorizing the purchase of the real estate, Mrs. Conkle has agreed to sell the property for $18,000 plus reasonable relocation expenses.

The legislation authorizing the issuance of notes in the amount of $50,000 states the notes must first be offered to the officer in charge of the bond retirement fund or to the officers in charge of the Police and Firemen's Disability Pension Fund. If not accepted by the funds, they shall then be sold privately.

In other legislative action Tuesday, considerable debate was held in recess over the amendments sought by Multichannel Cable TV company for its franchise ordinance.

The franchise is for 15 years. Strong objections to the ordinance and the amendments were voiced by Second Ward Councilman Robert Kenworthy.

Kenworthy said the amount of liability insurance required by the ordinance was insufficient. He also contended a section which he interpreted as meaning that subscribers should take down their own antennas should be stricken and that a section giving the company permission to assess extra fees for showing copyrighted television programs should be removed from the ordinance.

Officials of the company agreed with Kenworthy that the amount of liability was insufficient. Pointing out that it was good business to be adequately insured, they indicated they would be amiable to an upward revision of the requirement.

The officials of the cable television firm said they were not concerned whether or not subscribers kept their own antennas as long as sets were not attached to both the cable TV and to the antenna. They stated this would interfere with reception.

The officials stated additional fees for copyrighted programs would not be in excess of three per cent according to a series of studies made of such costs.

Concerning this permission to assess subscribers for such programs, Councilman Ben Gordon noted that the Public Utilities Commission would probably be given jurisdiction in the near future as a government regulatory agent concerning such fees.

However, Kenworthy indicated he would not be in favor of the amendments unless rewritten to his satisfaction. He made a motion to withhold action until the amendments were rewritten. The motion was approved.

A resolution authorizing the director of public utilities, Charles Taylor to apply for federal funds for construction of the new sewerage plant was read. The wording of the resolution had been changed at the last meeting to designate Taylor as the authority to apply for the funds rather than former Mayor Richard Gerhardt.

This time it was reworded so the application would be made to the Environmental Protection Agency rather than to the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board. This change was made on the recommendation of a member of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board.

The Environmental Protection Agency has come into existence since the original legislation was written and is now the proper governmental agency where the application must be made.

An ordinance passed at the last meeting in November establishing a new longevity employees of the public utilities department.

David Goldschmidt, chairman of council's finance committee, said the longevity would be in violation with the federal guidelines limiting salary increases because of the 5½ per cent across the board increase council plans to grant to all city employees at the beginning of the year.

According to Goldschmidt, had the longevity scale been approved prior to

Nov. 14, the end of the federal government fiscal year, it would not have been in violation.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

All members of council were on hand for a rather lengthy session Tuesday. The members are: Goldschmidt, first ward; Kenworthy, second ward; Harold Hoffman, third ward; Gladden Troutman, fourth ward; Gordon, David Crawford and Keith Wagner, councilmen-at-large. Also on hand were Joe Bell, council president; Robert Shadley, clerk; William Duckworth and William Stevenson, city attorneys; Mayor Frank Barnhill; Safety director Ed Ebert; Service director Jones.

Stevenson and Duckworth have not missed a meeting since being appointed as the legal counsel of the city early this year.

It has become the practice of council to recess to discuss legislation which is to be read at the meeting if there has been no opportunity to discuss it prior to the meeting. Last night a "brief" recess to discuss the Nicholas Drive legislation and the cable TV franchise lasted over an hour.

The meeting finally was adjourned at 10:50 p.m., nearly three hours after it had started.

Goldschmidt announced the city will probably finish the year in the black. The General Fund balance Nov. 30 was $30,717.34. According to Goldschmidt, three payrolls will have to be met during the month. He noted the city has not yet received the personal property tax distribution and will also receive another income tax distribution before the end of the year.

The city is still waiting on the promised federal revenue sharing funds. When the action was passed by Congress, it was announced the payment would be made by mid October. That date was delayed until Dec. 1. Now city fathers have no idea when the money might be forthcoming.

Mayor Barnhill told council the city fire department should have three more men. It was recommended by the safety committee, of which Kenworthy is chairman, the addition should be made. Goldschmidt said money would be appropriated to pay their salaries if and when it becomes available.

McGovern Decides To Shun Battle For Party Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he is following "a hands-off policy" in the many-sided battle for control of the Democratic party.

The South Dakota senator, who suffered a landslide defeat to President Nixon in last month's presidential election, said in a telephone interview Tuesday, "I don't think there's much chance of anyone withdrawing. Whoever the Democratic National Committee decides on as chairman will have my full support."

McGovern, who picked present Chairman Jean Westwood for the post after he won the Democratic presidential nomination last July, said, "I don't want people saying I'm vetoing anything."

"I want the national committee to meet and review the various candidates and decide" without any attempted influence from McGovern, he said.

Mrs. Westwood, of West Jordan, Utah, has been under considerable pressure to resign as chairman since McGovern's election defeat. She at first said she would resist efforts to oust her, but now says she will step down if there is a consensus on a new chairman who would support recent reforms aimed at opening the party to more young people, women, and minority groups.

Mrs. Westwood says both she and former party Treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas should get out of the race but that she will not step down unless he does.

However, Strauss, whose backers said Monday he has 100 of the 105 votes needed to win the chairmanship, has said he will not withdraw. He has the support of the Democratic Governors Caucus.

Vast Expansion Of Radial Tire Production Announced

One U.S. tire company is expanding production of radial tires it says have been approved by the major U.S. car-makers, another predicts a leap in their popularity and a French firm is moving into U.S. production.

The announcements came Tuesday in what industry spokesmen said heralded the start of the kind of popularity steel-belted radials enjoy in Europe and among sports car enthusiasts.

Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. said it is introducing four lines of steel-belted radial tires and promising, for the first time for its tires, a tread life of 40,000 miles on its radials.

Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. predicted "almost three-fourths" of the 1975-76 cars will come with radial tires as original equipment.

That means about a six-fold increase in current acceptance of radials in this country, since the radials' share of the original equipment market is now about 10 per cent, industry spokesmen estimated.

In Lake Success, N.Y., the French firm which Goodyear said is the world leader in radial tires, the Michelin Tire Corp., announced plans to build a manufacturing center in the United States. Its initial U.S. production of radials for passenger cars is expected in early 1975.

No site was announced for the Michelin facility.

Most tires in U.S. use today are bias type, tire company spokesmen said. The difference between them and radials is that strands run at an angle to the tread in the bias type and straight across in the radial type.

Belted tires may have strips of steel or fiber glass running around the tire in the same direction as the tread.

A source close to Goodyear said the firm plans a $300 million construction program, much of it aimed at radials. Radials require more plant space for production and can't be made on the same equipment used for other tires, Goodyear said.

Firestone, however, said it has devised a system for making radials on the same equipment it uses for other tires.

Since radials cost more to produce, Goodyear said, they will cost more in the retail market.

The radial tire offers greater safety and durability, improved cornering and better high-speed performance, Goodyear said. Industry spokesmen also said radials require special ad-

Fighter, Military Transport Crash; 13 Reported Dead

CONWAY, S.C. (AP) — A jet fighter and a military transport plane on a night-interception training exercise, with the transport as prey, collided and crashed. The Air Force said it had no reports of survivors among the 13 men aboard the two craft.

One witness said of the collision Tuesday night over northeastern South Carolina: "They looked like some Roman candles shooting, then there were pieces flying through the air, burning."

The planes crashed three miles apart in a sparsely settled area of woods and open fields.

Ground parties searched through the night for bodies of the 13 missing men.

State Highway Patrolman said bits of wreckage were scattered over parts of U.S. 701 between Loris and Conway but the roads were not blocked. Hundreds of motorists were attracted to the area.

No damage from the wreckage was reported.

Rescue crews supervised by the Horry County sheriff's office reported finding one body by late evening. There were no reports of survivors.

The crash in this area of northeastern South Carolina occurred at about 7:30 p.m. EST 20-25 miles northeast of Myrtle Beach Air Force Base, the Pentagon said.

Details of how the collision occurred were sketchy, but the sheriff's department said that witnesses reported seeing one of the planes explode. There was no official confirmation of this, however.

Muny Jurors Sought

Judge Sterling Lamb of the Circleville Municipal Court, has requested an additional 150 names be drawn Dec. 16 when jury commissioners draw for the January term grand jury and petit juries.

The full Democratic National Committee meets here Saturday and is expected to take up the matter at that time. If Mrs. Westwood does not resign the committee would have to vote her out of office before moving to elect a successor.

One of the other likely candidates for the chairmanship is Lawrence F. O'Brien, who on two separate occasions has held the job. An O'Brien supporter said Monday he would make no assessments of O'Brien's strength.

"I think all the national committee members around the country are getting tired of all the calls and literature they've been getting from all the possible candidates," the O'Brien supporter said. Besides Mrs. Westwood, Strauss and O'Brien, George Mitchell of Maine and Charles Manatt of California have said they would seek the post.

4-Letter Word Proves Costly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Better make certain you pop off with four-letter words only in front of men.

Donna Williams angrily snapped a four-letter expletive during an argument in a Columbus department store. It cost her $12.50 a letter. The store clerk was a woman.

Four-letter words aren't included in the right of free speech, ruled the Franklin County Court of Appeals in upholding conviction of the 23-year-old Columbus woman on an obscene language charge.

Ohio Sheriffs End Meeting, Elect Officers

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — The 42nd annual convention of the Buckeye Sheriff's Association wound up today, highlighted by an address by Gov. John Gilligan.

Tuesday the sheriffs heard state Rep. Alan Norris, R-59 Westerville, say he would protest a proposed revision in the criminal code bill that would result in reduction of most jail terms by one-third.

"The jail term is not specifically to be singled out for rehabilitation, but should be viewed as well as a deterrent and punishment," Norris said.

"We want to be sure that if a person can't be rehabilitated, that he's not going to be out next week working people over again."

During a business session Tuesday, Stark County Sheriff George Papadopoulos was elected president, succeeding John Castell of Henry County.

John Borgia of Huron County, Dwight Radcliff of Pickaway County and Douglas Ziegler of Defiance County were elected vice presidents; James Baldrige of Hardin County, secretary, and James Knoch of Auglaize County, treasurer.

He has been ride and concession manager at the Pickaway County fair "for many years" and is an ex-officio fair board member.

An active farmer with about 850 acres, his prime interest in finishing feeder hogs. He is secretary-treasurer of the Co-Line Pork, Inc., a hog finishing facility.

He is also vice-president of the Pickaway Motel Corp., a Quality Courts franchise; a member of the Circleville Zoning Appeals Board; past president of the Circleville Jaycees and head usher at the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Two other men were selected with May to fill three vacancies on the nine-member commission.

They are Donald Wood, 37, president of the Fayette County Bank in Washington C.H., and Ronald Castell, 34, vice president for sales and promotion at Columbus City National Bank and former public relations adviser to the governor.

Retiring members are Robert S. Ward, Sr., Westville; Norman Treadon, Brecksville; and Victor Oakley, Nelsonville.

The three new appointees are Democrats.

Ohio Sheriffs End Meeting, Elect Officers

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — The 42nd annual convention of the Buckeye Sheriff's Association wound up today, highlighted by an address by Gov. John Gilligan.

Tuesday the sheriffs heard state Rep. Alan Norris, R-59 Westerville, say he would protest a proposed revision in the criminal code bill that would result in reduction of most jail terms by one-third.

"The jail term is not specifically to be singled out for rehabilitation, but should be viewed as well as a deterrent and punishment," Norris said.

"We want to be sure that if a person can't be rehabilitated, that he's not going to be out next week working people over again."

During a business session Tuesday, Stark County Sheriff George Papadopoulos was elected president, succeeding John Castell of Henry County.

John Borgia of Huron County, Dwight Radcliff of Pickaway County and Douglas Ziegler of Defiance County were elected vice presidents; James Baldrige of Hardin County, secretary, and James Knoch of Auglaize County, treasurer.

Fatal Shooting Of Girl Probed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A 15-year-old Newtown boy was held by juvenile authorities today while police continue the investigation of the fatal shooting of a 14-year-old girl.

Joyce Donaldson was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Newtown Police Chief Earl Anthony said the youth claimed the shooting was an accident.

The chief quoted the youth as saying he was stepping out of a beer carryout store carrying a loaded shotgun as the girl came in. The youth said he bumped into a beer case and the gun went off.

ROGER H. MAY

The commission will hold an organizational session 2 p.m. Wednesday at the State fairgrounds.

Commissioners receive $58.08 per day of service and are required to attend monthly meetings, committee meetings, and all 12 days of the Ohio State Fair.

They decide all activities at the fairgrounds and currently will be considering a request by a German Village restaurant to seek a beer permit for its year-round luncheon operation on the fairgrounds.

A Page Of Opinion

New Career Emphasis

Enrollment in colleges and universities this fall was up only two per cent, with most of the gain accounted for by two-year colleges. Temporarily, at least, the bloom is off the rapid growth of college attendance which has continued for more than two decades.

It is too early to tell if a permanent change is occurring in higher education, with a more sizable segment of high school graduates opting for vocational training, two-year schools or a place in the work force.

That is the overall picture, but a closer look at the specifics of higher education provides a clue to current preferences. While many liberal arts, education and engineering undergraduate schools were under difficulty filling freshmen classes, admittance applications were heavy in law, medicine, social service, design, nursing, architecture and other fields offering specific career training.

Those are the fields offering greatest career opportunities today. The interest in them should serve as a warning to colleges which have not adjusted their curricula to changing employment conditions.

Owning Up To Errors

Individuals with the character to admit they were wrong and accept the consequences possess a trait which is not universal. The temptation to blame someone or something for one's errors is a strong one in all walks of life, including professional sports.

Some sports figures, in fact, are not very sportsmanlike. Lee Trevino is not among them. The popular golfer, current British Open champion and former U.S. Open king, tarnished his convivial image last October when he walked off the course during the Sahara Invitation Tournament.

But only temporarily. Almost immediately Trevino apologized to the public and officials for his conduct and said he deserved punishment for it.

That punishment has come in the PGA Tournament Players Division. It could have been much more severe. The association added in its announcement:

"The extent of the penalty for this major violation of tournament regulations was influenced not only by the fact that Mr. Trevino was the defending champion but, in mitigation, by his prompt and unqualified apology to tournament officials."

There is a lesson for champion and also-ran alike to consider.

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 6, the 341st day of 1972. There are 25 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt made a personal peace appeal to Emperor Hirohito of Japan. It was one day before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

On this date: In 1847, Abraham Lincoln took his seat in the House of Representatives as a congressman from Illinois.

In 1917, some 1,600 persons were killed in a collision between Belgian and French ammunition ships at Halifax, Nova Scotia.

In 1933, Americans jammed liquor stores and cafes to buy alcoholic beverages after repeal of Prohibition. In 1943, in World War II, the American-British Command in Europe notified the Soviets that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had been picked to command the invasion of Europe.

In 1957, the AFL-CIO voted to oust the Teamsters Union.

In 1966, Britain called for U.N. sanctions against the rebellious white government in Rhodesia.

Ten years ago: London was enveloped in the worst fog in years. Toxic fumes were blamed for more than 300 deaths, many elderly persons.

Five years ago: New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art disclosed that a famous bronze horse in its collection — long considered a masterpiece of ancient Greek art — was a 50-year-old fake.

One year ago: South Korea's President Chung Hee Park warned of danger of invasion from the north and declared a national emergency.

Today's birthdays: Actress Agnes Moorehead is 66. Former football coach Lou Little is 79.

Thought for today: He that would govern others, first should be the master of himself — Philip Massinger, English dramatist, 1583-1640.

They Won Without Help

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The problem of the Democratic Party is simply stated: it is to find a way of putting the genie back in the bottle.

The genie is ethnicity, if that is a usable word. A number of Democratic commentators, dismayed at the mishaps that have befallen the old Roosevelt coalition, speak of new combinations: the young, the black, the poor, etc. But it is wrong to try to reduce political organizational problems to possible statistical components. Coalitions are not born of simple addition; they are born of natural rallying behind a unifying idea. To come back on a national scale, the Democrats must find a universal solvent. They can't find it by going the "McGovern rule" route of quota representation for the simple reason that this emphasizes divisiveness, not unity.

Franklin Roosevelt, who used to like to say "we are all immigrants," stormed the White House as the symbol of melting pot America. His coalition — the South, the academicians, the Democratic city machines of the North, the farmers, the labor bosses — rallied behind the single unifying idea of economic betterment. The South got its TVA, with a whole cluster of new industries. The city politicians and the labor bosses got WPA and the right to organize for an upturn that took people off WPA. The farmers got high prices. The academicians were satisfied when their economic theories were accepted. And the economic unifying theme could be protected because in the Thirties and on through the Forties we could stand for the inflation that absorbed all the expenses.

The day when an economic solvent could unify special interest groups is not gone with the wind. The Roman Catholic Irish, Poles, and Italians now have suburban interests to protect. The blacks do not. The farm workers — the Chicanos who follow Cesar Chavez — have organizing interests to pursue; the wheat, corn, hog, and cotton agriculturalists, using expensive machinery as substitutes for field hands for harvest purposes, couldn't care less about Chavez's program. There are no more big unexploited dam sites left to provide a power theme capable of unifying the Northwest, the mountain South, and the Missouri Valley. As for the young, they grow old in four-year cycles and move inexorably on into groups that have little to do with age.

Every piece of post-election analysis emphasizes the lack of a national Democratic unifying theme. George McGovern is worried about the "immorality" of the Vietnamese War, but that war has already come to an end for more than 90 per cent of the American people. The Senatorial Democrats couldn't care less about the problems of the Democratic National Committee; they won while Party Chairman — or Chairperson — Jean Westwood was losing. George Wallace says the party will have to go his way in 1976 or he will cease to be a "national" Democrat and turn Republican.

But how is Wallace going to have his way totally now that Stokely Carmichael, the "black power" advocate, has come home from Africa with the idea of bringing the Reverend Jesse Jackson and other Negro leaders into a united all-black political grouping? Stokely Carmichael won't succeed in creating a black united front, for he has his own penchant for divisiveness. But if Wallace polarizes in one direction, Carmichael polarizes in another. Assuming that Ted Kennedy is the Democratic choice for unifying the party, how does he satisfy both the Wallaceites and the Carmichaelites?

None of this analysis means that the Republicans necessarily have it made for 1976. Too much can happen in the world in four years. Mao Tse-tung won't live forever. The peace in Indochina will be uneasy. Inflation and welfare don't mix. But one thing can be said with certainty: quotas and ethnicity are political dead ends. Majorities are created by playing down the differences of race, religion, national origins, age and sex. What counts in politics is ideas. You can't build a new coalition on groupings that are fighting each other for quota recognition; you have got to find a unifying theme.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We would like to thank this opportunity to thank the physicians of Pickaway County for their coverage of the local football games this past season. We realize there is little reward in sitting in the wet and cold on Friday nights watching two teams neither of which may mean much to the doctor.

However, we can assure you that just the presence of a physician at the games makes the game much more enjoyable to the parents and to the coaching staff, and probably to the team members.

We would especially like to thank Dr. Charles Hedges for covering Westfall, Dr. William Myers for Circleville, Dr. Frank Moore for Logan Elm, and Dr. Robert Sliwinski for Teays Valley, and of course any of the other local physicians who helped with the teams this fall.

Dear Editor:

Circleville La Sertoma wishes to thank everyone who attended the club's square dance Nov. 18 at the 4-H and Grange building.

The money made from the dance will be used for projects for the club's sponsorships, well-child clinic, Brooks-Yates School for the Mentally Retarded and the Girls' Group Home. So everyone, in addition to having a good time, contributed to a worthy cause. Thanks

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Boils and carbuncles of the neck seem to plague me. Could these be caused by a deficiency of vitamins or by poor diet?

I am otherwise very healthy and weigh almost 200 lbs. I have no difficulty in my heavy-duty job.

Mr. T.A., Md.

Dear Mr. A.:

A boil, or furuncle, is a small collection of pus. It is almost always caused by the staphylococcus germ.

Often boils occur in clusters in the same area of the skin.

A carbuncle is a far more serious infection. It affects the underlying layers of the skin and the muscle beneath it.

An inadequate diet and vitamin deficiency may devitalize the body and make a person more susceptible to such skin infections. However, in a person of your size, who undoubtedly eats a nourishing diet, the chances are greater that some local skin irritation is causing your problem.

Some medical conditions such as diabetes, and other debilitating conditions, may predispose some people to infections of this type.

Its value and effectiveness are not completely accepted by physicians everywhere.

More important is rigid cleanliness and hygiene in the area of these recurrent infections.

Prompt treatment of tiny insignificant infections with wet dressings, and antibiotics if suggested by the doctor, can prevent complications of these superficial infections.

My mother had an operation for a "telescope" condition of the intestine. Can you explain what this is?

Miss R. W., Ark.

Dear Miss W.:

This descriptive term refers to a condition known as "intussusception."

A portion of the small intestine actually telescopes itself into the wider opening of the large intestine.

The condition is more commonly seen in children below the age of four.

This type of obstruction of the bowel must be relieved as quickly as possible to be sure that greater complications do not set in.

NEW YORK (AP) — You can't tall down as long as you are going up.

So it's the better part of wisdom now and then to pause and take stock of yourself and your career. One of the best ways to do this is to check your prestige, that mystical and somewhat mythical gauge by which Americans judge each other.

Of course, you could hire a team of efficiency and psychological experts to go over you and make an estimate. But that would take weeks of time and thousands of dollars. But you can make your own judgement of your prestige by taking a small inventory of your recent achievements and failures.

How? Well, here are a few suggestions.

You are undoubtedly winning friends, doing well on your job and creating a good community impression if —

Real estate values go up when you move into a new neighborhood.

Your old friends loyally say you're the only man they know whose success hasn't gone to his head — but they secretly hate your guts anyway. Because true-blue friends can forgive each other anything except success.

Your wife keeps a candle burning night and day at each side of the framed photograph of you she has hung in her bedroom.

Your mistress does the same thing in her love nest, except that in her photograph you are wearing a dashing bowtie, and she has written across it "I love you, hero" in red lipstick.

Your page-long biography in "Who's Who in America" is printed in capital letters.

If you aren't yet the boss of your firm, you already have designed the kind of personalized office stationery you want when you do take over the helm.

When you walk up to the water cooler, the gang around it start to smile appreciatively because they know you're going to tell them the best new joke of the day.

Your teen-age children always listen to you with respect — and sometimes do what you tell them.

That's the bright side of the status picture. How about the dismal side? Well, you can be pretty sure your prestige has slipped to the zero point if

You are still so disliked in the penitentiary you served time in that the inmates won't let you belong to its alumni association.

Your wife keeps a photo of her high school sweetheart on her bedside night table.

The pretty waitress at the beanery where you have lunch always tries to get the homely waitress to serve you.

When the usher who takes up the offering during church services passes you, he plucks a dollar bill from the plate himself and quietly puts it into the outside breast pocket of your coat.

Your boss usually mistakes you for one of two other guys.

Man, you just don't need help — you need rescue.

Dignitaries Visit Cape

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, actress Eva Gabor, comedian Bob Hope and 130-year-old Charlie Smith, who still doubts man can walk on the moon, top a list of space agency VIP's who will watch the Apollo 17 launch in person.

A record 42,000 people will watch the launch Wednesday night as guests of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the White House, State Department and other government agencies.

Among them are 200 congressmen, 59 foreign dignitaries, 81 ambassadors, 2,400 newsmen, dozens of Hollywood stars and social luminaries who have reserved seating for the liftoff.

Smith, who retired as a orange picker in the central Florida town of Bartow at the age of 113, will be chauffeured to the moonport where he has a grandstand seat.

"He doesn't fully understand just what the rocket launch is all about," said Frank Duerr, a social security worker who knows Smith well. "He still doesn't think people can go to the moon and walk on it."

A Page Of Opinion

New Career Emphasis

Enrollment in colleges and universities this fall was up only two per cent, with most of the gain accounted for by two-year colleges. Temporarily, at least, the bloom is off the rapid growth of college attendance which has continued for more than two decades.

It is too early to tell if a permanent change is occurring in higher education, with a more sizable segment of high school graduates opting for vocational training, two-year schools or a place in the work force.

That is the overall picture, but a closer look at the specifics of higher education provides a clue to current preferences. While many liberal arts, education and engineering undergraduate schools were having difficulty filling freshmen classes, admittance applications were heavy in law, medicine, social service, design, nursing, architecture and other fields offering specific career training.

Those are the fields offering greatest career opportunities today. The interest in them should serve as a warning to colleges which have not adjusted their curricula to changing employment conditions.

Owning Up To Errors

Individuals with the character to admit they were wrong and accept the consequences possess a trait which is not universal. The temptation to blame someone or something for one's errors is a strong one in all walks of life, including professional sports.

Some sports figures, in fact, are not very sportsmanlike. Lee Trevino is not among them. The popular golfer, current British Open champion and former U.S. Open king, tarnished his convivial image last October when he walked off the course during the Sahara Invitation Tournament.

But only temporarily. Almost immediately Trevino apologized to the public and officials for his conduct and said he deserved punishment for it.

That punishment has come in the PGA Tournament Players Division. It could have been much more severe. The association added in its announcement:

"The extent of the penalty for this major violation of tournament regulations was influenced not only by the fact that Mr. Trevino was the defending champion but, in mitigation, by his prompt and unqualified apology to tournament officials."

There is a lesson for champion and also-ran alike to consider.

They Won Without Help

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The problem of the Democratic Party is simply stated: it is to find a way of putting the genie back in the bottle.

The genie is ethnicity, if that is a usable word. A number of Democratic commentators, dismayed at the mishaps that have befallen the old Roosevelt coalition, speak of new combinations: the young, the black, the poor, etc. But it is wrong to try to reduce political organizational problems to possible statistical components. Coalitions are not born of simple addition; they are born of natural rallying behind a unifying idea. To come back on a national scale, the Democrats must find a universal solvent. They can't find it by going the "McGovern rule" route of quota representation for the simple reason that this emphasizes divisiveness, not unity.

Franklin Roosevelt, who used to like to say "we are all immigrants," stormed the White House as the symbol of melting pot America. His coalition — the South, the academicians, the Democratic city machines of the North, the farmers, the labor bosses — rallied behind the single unifying idea of economic betterment. The South got its TVA, with a whole cluster of new industries. The city politicians and the labor bosses got WPA and the right to organize for an upturn that took people off WPA. The farmers got high prices. The academicians were satisfied when their economic theories were accepted. And the economic unifying theme could be protected because in the Thirties and on through the Forties we could stand for the inflation that absorbed all the expenses.

The day when an economic solvent could unify special interest groups is not gone with the wind. The Roman Catholic Irish, Poles, and Italians now have suburban interests to protect. The blacks do not. The farm workers — the Chicanos who follow Cesar Chavez — have organizing interests to pursue; the wheat, corn, hog, and cotton agriculturalists, using expensive machinery as substitutes for field hands for harvest purposes, couldn't care less about Chavez's program. There are no more big unexploited dam sites left to provide a power theme capable of unifying the Northwest, the mountain South, and the Missouri Valley. As for the young, they grow old in four-year cycles and move inexorably on into groups that have little to do with age.

Every piece of post-election analysis emphasizes the lack of a national Democratic unifying theme. George McGovern is worried about the "immorality" of the Vietnamese War, but that war has already come to an end for more than 90 per cent of the American people. The Senatorial Democrats couldn't care less about the problems of the Democratic National Committee; they won while Party Chairman — or Chairperson — Jean Westwood was losing. George Wallace says the party will have to go his way in 1976 or he will cease to be a "national" Democrat and turn Republican.

But how is Wallace going to have his way totally now that Stokely Carmichael, the "black power" advocate, has come home from Africa with the idea of bringing the Reverend Jesse Jackson and other Negro leaders into a united all-black political grouping? Stokely Carmichael won't succeed in creating a black united front, for he has his own penchant for divisiveness. But if Wallace polarizes in one direction, Carmichael polarizes in another. Assuming that Ted Kennedy is the Democratic choice for unifying the party, how does he satisfy both the Wallaceites and the Carmichaelites?

None of this analysis means that the Republicans necessarily have it made for 1976. Too much can happen in the world in four years. Mao Tse-tung won't live forever. The peace in Indochina will be uneasy. Inflation and welfare don't mix. But one thing can be said with certainty: quotas and ethnicity are political dead ends. Majorities are created by playing down the differences of race, religion, national origins, age and sex. What counts in politics is ideas. You can't build a new coalition on groupings that are fighting each other for quota recognition; you have got to find a unifying theme.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the physicians of Pickaway County for their coverage of the local football games this past season. We realize there is little reward in sitting in the wet and cold on Friday nights watching two teams neither of which may mean much to the doctor.

However, we can assure you that just the presence of a physician at the games makes the game much more enjoyable to the parents and to the coaching staff, and probably to the team members.

We would especially like to thank Dr. Charles Hedges for covering Westfall, Dr. William Myers for Circleville, Dr. Frank Moore for Logan Elm, and Dr. Robert Sliwinski for Teays Valley, and of course any of the other local physicians who helped with the teams this fall.

Ten years ago: London was enveloped in the worst fog in years. Toxic fumes were blamed for more than 300 deaths, many elderly persons.

Five years ago: New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art disclosed that a famous bronze horse in its collection — long considered a masterpiece of ancient Greek art — was a 50-year-old fake.

One year ago: South Korea's President Chung Hee Park warned of danger of invasion from the north and declared a national emergency.

Today's birthdays: Actress Agnes Moorehead is 66. Former football coach Lou Little is 79.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Colder temperatures are on the way for Ohio, according to the state's weather summary reported by the National Weather Service.

The mercury is expected to fall into the teens tonight.

A low pressure system moving up from the southern plains Tuesday and moving into the western Great Lakes region during the night brought another surge of very mild air northward across Ohio, pushing night time temperatures up into the 60s as far north as the shores of Lake Erie.

Although the mild air is pleasant at this time of year it will be short lived as colder air has already spread across most of the western portion of the state and by noon or early afternoon will have spread across the remainder of the state. This push of cold air is strong and temperatures will be falling off sharply with the passage of the cold front.

With arrival of somewhat colder temperatures the precipitation falling over the state including scattered thunderstorms will be changing to a brief period of freezing rain and drizzle and then snow.

Snow amounts in the state should be light as the supporting low pressure system continues to move away from Ohio to the northeast although there may be some local accumulations in the Lake Erie snow belt of the northeast portion.

Quite cold conditions will continue to hold over Ohio through at least Thursday as the cold air mass continues its push to the east coast.

Britain To Increase Spending On Pollution

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Britain will increase its water pollution control spending by one-half in the next five years while tightening its sewage regulations, a United Kingdom spokesman said Tuesday.

G. A. Truesdale of the Institute of Water Pollution Control, Stevenage, Hertfordshire, England, said the money spent in the past has "kept pace with the increase in pollution, so there has been no deterioration and, in fact, has been a slight improvement."

Ohio Prison Ombudsman To Be Man In Middle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As the ombudsman for some 9,000 inmates in Ohio correctional institutions, George E. Miller knows he'll be the man in the middle.

"On one hand they'll say we're coddling prisoners, while reform groups will claim we're not doing enough," said the 30-year veteran of Ohio's penal system.

Miller, who joined the system in 1942 as a $150 a month Ohio Penitentiary guard, plans to hire two deputy ombudsmen to help him with his job.

Both are former inmates who have been working within the corrections system for the past three years.

"With their experience on one side of the fence and my 30 years in the system, we should be able to accomplish a lot," he said.

Miller doesn't say so but it appears the ombudsman's job primarily is aimed at letting inmates get rid of some of the frustrations that build up behind prison walls, sometimes leading to violence.

Miller and his two ex-inmate aides will move into a grievance case upon the orders of Bennett J. Cooper, director of the Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections.

First, he said, the prisoner will use grievance procedures within the various institutions. Each has a liaison officer to act upon the complaint.

If the inmate isn't satisfied, the matter goes to an institution inquiry board. The superintendent or warden then gets a look at the issue.

From there, it goes to Cooper, who can turn it over to Miller for additional investigation.

The entire procedure is quite a change from the days when Miller worked as a penitentiary guard.

"We think more of the inmate as an individual now," he said. "In those days we thought primarily of security."

Miller believes the change in emphasis has been good, with more inmates rehabilitated today.

Creation of a prison ombudsman grew from recommendations of a task force appointed by Gov. John J. Gilligan to study prison reform.

Miller was named to the post last month, but he said he has been serving as ombudsman since the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction was split earlier this year.

Since 1942, Miller has served in five of the eight correctional institutions, working up through the ranks from guard to top administrative positions.

Many of the prisoner grievances, he said, center around parole board action.

"They often can't understand why they are passed over for parole when their behavior has been good."

Other major complaints concern medical attention, disciplinary action and procedures and stolen personal property, he said.

Classification and transfers is another, Miller said. "Many inmates want into a different institution because it has a training program in a field they are interested in."

He predicted new divisions within the department, including one on program services, would take some of the load off the ombudsman.

Curtailment of the censorship of letters already has worked wonders, he said. "The prisoners know they can write anybody they want and they do—the governor, the newspapers and the director."

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Colder temperatures are on the way for Ohio, according to the state's weather summary reported by the National Weather Service.

The mercury is expected to fall into the teens tonight.

A low pressure system moving up from the southern plains Tuesday and moving into the western Great Lakes region during the night brought another surge of very mild air northward across Ohio, pushing night time temperatures up into the 60s as far north as the shores of Lake Erie.

Although the mild air is pleasant at this time of year it will be short lived as colder air has already spread across most of the western portion of the state and by noon or early afternoon will have spread across the remainder of the state. This push of cold air is strong and temperatures will be falling off sharply with the passage of the cold front.

With arrival of somewhat colder temperatures the precipitation falling over the state including scattered thunderstorms will be changing to a brief period of freezing rain and drizzle and then snow.

Snow amounts in the state should be light as the supporting low pressure system continues to move away from Ohio to the northeast although there may be some local accumulations in the Lake Erie snow belt of the northeast portion.

Quite cold conditions will continue to hold over Ohio through at least Thursday as the cold air mass continues its push to the east coast.

Britain To Increase Spending On Pollution

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Britain will increase its water pollution control spending by one-half in the next five years while tightening its sewage regulations, a United Kingdom spokesman said Tuesday.

G. A. Truesdale of the Institute of Water Pollution Control, Stevenage, Hertfordshire, England, said the money spent in the past has "kept pace with the increase in pollution, so there has been no deterioration and, in fact, has been a slight improvement."

Ohio Prison Ombudsman To Be Man In Middle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As the ombudsman for some 9,000 inmates in Ohio correctional institutions, George E. Miller knows he'll be the man in the middle.

"On one hand they'll say we're coddling prisoners, while reform groups will claim we're not doing enough," said the 30-year veteran of Ohio's penal system.

Miller, who joined the system in 1942 as a $150 a month Ohio Penitentiary guard, plans to hire two deputy ombudsmen to help him with his job.

Both are former inmates who have been working within the corrections system for the past three years.

"With their experience on one side of the fence and my 30 years in the system, we should be able to accomplish a lot," he said.

Miller doesn't say so but it appears the ombudsman's job primarily is aimed at letting inmates get rid of some of the frustrations that build up behind prison walls, sometimes leading to violence.

Miller and his two ex-inmate aides will move into a grievance case upon the orders of Bennett J. Cooper, director of the Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections.

First, he said, the prisoner will use grievance procedures within the various institutions. Each has a liaison officer to act upon the complaint. If the inmate isn't satisfied, the matter goes to an institution inquiry board. The superintendent or warden then gets a look at the issue.

From there, it goes to Cooper, who can turn it over to Miller for additional investigation.

The entire procedure is quite a change from the days when Miller worked as a penitentiary guard.

"We think more of the inmate as an individual now," he said. "In those days we thought primarily of security."

Miller believes the change in emphasis has been good, with more inmates rehabilitated today.

Creation of a prison ombudsman grew from recommendations of a task force appointed by Gov. John J. Gilligan to study prison reform.

Miller was named to the post last month, but he said he has been serving as ombudsman since the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction was split earlier this year.

Since 1942, Miller has served in five of the eight correctional institutions, working up through the ranks from guard to top administrative positions.

Many of the prisoner grievances, he said, center around parole board action.

"They often can't understand why they are passed over for parole when their behavior has been good."

Other major complaints concern medical attention, disciplinary action and procedures and stolen personal property, he said.

Classification and transfers is another, Miller said. "Many inmates want into a different institution because it has a training program in a field they are interested in."

He predicted new divisions within the department, including one on program services, would take some of the load off the ombudsman.

Curtailment of the censorship of letters already has worked wonders, he said. "The prisoners know they can write anybody they want and they do—the governor, the newspapers and the director."

A June wedding is being planned by the couple.

Garden Clubs Entertained At Holiday Guest Day Tea

Council of Pickaway County Garden Clubs held its annual Holiday Guest Day Tea in the United Methodist Church of Five Points, hosted by Monrovia Garden Club.

Mrs. Harry Smith, council president, welcomed members and guests. Mrs. J. W. Hott read "Walk A Country Mile," reflections of some of nature's beauty, and "Lo! In The City Of David" written by Mrs. Howard Koch, a member of Soliqua Garden Club.

Program chairman, Mrs. Donald Watt, presented the guest speaker, Wolfgang Matzke. Mr. Matzke first told of three helpful publications available to the public. "Making Land Produce Useful Wildlife" and the 1972 yearbook of agriculture "Landscaping For Living" are available by contacting your congressman. Soil Conservation Service provides an illustrated pamphlet entitled "Invite Birds To Your Home."

Slides were shown and narrated by Mr. Matzke depicting plantings that best provide food and shelter for the birds. He suggested planting one-third evergreens and two-thirds deciduous trees and shrubs. Open space in the form of natural meadows is also desired in landscaping. The wild variety of rose shrubs provide the birds many rose hips. He noted that the wild roses are easier to grow than the tea roses which are susceptible to many diseases. Pictures of living hedge fences used on residential property lines in Germany were shown.

Some suggested plantings to attract the birds mentioned were burning bush, witchhazel, cut leaf sumac, American cranberrybush, crabapples (small fruited), Washington hawthorn (good for nesting), cherry, Boston ivy, sunflowers and ornamental grasses.

The speaker showed many beautiful imported Christmas tree ornaments including carved wooden toys, glass hand-painted balls, icicles and electric candle lights to decorate the tree.

At the close of the program Mrs. Smith wished everyone a happy Christmas season and Mrs. Joseph Sheets invited everyone to the gaily decorated tea table.

Members of the host club displayed door swags, hardwickia wreaths, miniature flower pictures and other crafts they made in club work.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Sharing Shoes: A Beautiful Friendship

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the amputee who voiced complaint over the necessity of purchasing two shoes when only one was needed: She (or he) should have mentioned her shoe size and which appendage had been pruned and the chances are that several shoe-mates might have responded.

I'm an amputee myself, and I'm always on the prowl for a female, minus her left leg, who wears a size 6-B. Sharing shoes can be the basis for a beautiful friendship. Her left for my right is a profitable swap. Since the demise of the shoe exchange-originally in St. Louis and then Santa Monica-amputees are pretty much on their own. Of course, an amputee can have a custom-designed shoe made, but this is usually more costly than purchasing a pair and discarding one.

"I am an old hand-or I guess I should say and 'old foot'-at this business. I've used crutches for almost 55 years."

LOUISE
DEAR LOUISE: I have some wonderful news for you. If you want it know where in your area you can buy one shoe, write to me. One shot in my column asking readers if they knew of such a place brought hundreds of responses. Unipeds of the world-unite. It's a shoe-in!

DEAR ABBY: Let "AFRAID OF DOGS" try this: If a dog approaches in a menacing manner, say, "Shalom" in a firm but cordial way. Keep repeating it until the dog retreats and stops barking.

I tried this once by accident, and it worked, so now I do it every time a dog looks like it is going to attack me. As many as three barking dogs have come toward me at once, and I kept repeating, "Shalom, Shalom," and, thank goodness, it always worked.

SHALOM IN LOUISVILLE
DEAR SHALOM: Those dog must have boned up on their Hebrew!

DEAR ABBY: If your recent column on fire safety saves one life, its worth becomes priceless. May I add to it?

The day I arrived home from the hospital, virtually helpless in a heavy cast, the fire chief paid me a visit. He noted the nature of my disability, and pointed out alternate escape routes. He then placed a large red fluorescent sticker on my front door to notify the first responding fire fighter that there was an invalid in the house.

When I could walk again, I notified the fire department. They came and removed the sticker to prevent firemen from risking their lives and wasting precious time on a needless search.

Thank heavens, nothing happened in the interim, but it was most reassuring to know that somebody cared and was prepared.

National Friction In GOP Bared At Governors Meet

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A top Republican official has given GOP governors a highly critical account of the way managers of President Nixon's re-election committee are continuing to treat the high command of the Republican National Committee.

Cochairman Thomas Evans made clear in his speech to a closed luncheon at the Republican Governors Conference Monday that he feels that the "high handed" treatment of the RNC that he said marked the campaign is continuing in the postelection period. His attack produced some surprise

Airbag Deadline Lifted By Court

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A federal court told the U.S. government Tuesday to delay implementation of standards requiring airbag-type safety devices in automobiles produced after Aug. 15, 1975.

In a 2-1 opinion, the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that testing standards for so-called "passive" safety devices such as airbags, which act automatically without aid from automobile passengers, must be refined.

Ohio Man Sentenced For Big Bank Theft

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An Ohio man was sentenced Monday to 20 years in federal prison in the $5 million burglary of an Orange County bank. U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne ordered the sentence for Phillip B. Christopher, 29, Cleveland. The man had declined to disclose the whereabouts of the loot.

Charles Mulligan, 38, and his brother-in-law, Amil Dinsio, 36, both from Ohio, each received 20-year sentences last month.

from governors who told newsmen later they had not realized the extent of the friction between officials of the party's national committee and those of the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

After a working breakfast today with aides, the governors plan to tour for the remainder of the day.

Evans said he felt the RNC has failed to receive proper credit for its work in the campaign and said he was particularly annoyed at a letter from Maurice Stans, finance chairman of both the RNC and CRP, directing committee officials to appear Dec. 15 with a proposed budget for the following year.

Those at the luncheon said that Evans, who left here for Washington shortly afterwards, told them he was unsure whether he could meet that deadline and objected to the idea of being summoned before Stans.

However, National Chairman Robert J. Dole told newsmen he didn't feel as strongly as Evans about having to go before Stans because "after all, he's got the money." He added that "I understand it is still coming in" to the re-election committee.

The Kansas senator told a news conference earlier Monday that the Republican National Committee would end the year with a debt of probably $200,000, adding that "hopefully, there might be a little money transferred" from the re-election group.

Bids On Highway Construction Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Bids on a Stark County construction project estimated to cost $9.3 million will be opened by the Ohio Highway Division Dec. 12.

The project is a 4.4-mile bypass of Alliance by U.S. 62, extending from an existing interchange west of the city to Ohio 225 north of the city.

Other work for which bids will be opened the same day include a $4 million upgrading of 5.2 miles on U.S. 36 to create a four-lane highway from Interstate 71 to east of Delaware.

Dayton Police Slowdown Continues

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—City officials and members of the Dayton Fraternal Board of Police executive board declined to say whether any progress was made at a meeting Tuesday to discuss a slowdown by most of the city's 420 policemen.

"I just can't comment on what went on at the meeting or what we were discussing," said Ron Brandenburg, president of the FOP.

He said any comment would have to come from City Manager James Kunde, who also refused to discuss the meeting.

However, a police department spokesman said Kunde told the FOP officials that contract negotiations would be resumed if policemen return to full work.

Meanwhile, the slowdown continued Tuesday, with patrol crews responding to only about half the average number of dispatches. The number of responses was up from the previous day because sergeants were supervising some crews.

Police began the slowdown Monday to protest failure of negotiations to produce a contract to replace one that expired last Dec. 26.

Whether the FOP executive board could bring a halt to the slowdown remained questionable, since the board reportedly recommended against the protest action in the first place.

"This is a runaway group right now and I don't think the officers will listen to anyone, not even the executive board," said one officer, who asked not to be identified.

Rent Watch Finds Few Violators

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A few landlords have been found who illegally raised rents after increases in Social Security and railroad retirement plans went into effect in October, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

A nationwide Rent Watch was ordered by the Cost of Living Council Sept. 29 as a means of preventing landlords from illegally raising rents to take advantage of the higher social services payments.

Paul Schuster, Cincinnati IRS director, said IRS initiated investigations of 89,664 rental units nationally during the first two months of Rent Watch. He said only 20 violations of a minor nature, and two considered major were uncovered.

The violating landlords were assessed penalties totaling $21,391, Schuster said.

Most residential rental units come under the federal government's present economic controls, Schuster said. Those owned by local, state and federal government are excluded, however.

Landlords may not raise rents more than 2.5 per cent a year, Schuster said, but may pass on additional charges to tenants for increased taxes, services and capital improvements.

The controls exclude landlords who control four rental units or less.

James Earl Ray Files Federal Appeal

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray, confessed assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is asking that he either be freed from prison or be granted another trial.

Attorneys for Ray, who is presently serving a 99-year prison term, filed a petition in federal court here Monday requesting a hearing that would allow Ray to withdraw his plea of guilty in the case.

Dear Abby:

Sharing Shoes: A Beautiful Friendship

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the amputee who voiced complaint over the necessity of purchasing two shoes when only one was needed: She (or he) should have mentioned her shoe size and which appendage had been pruned-and the chances are that several shoe-mates might have responded.

I'm an amputee myself, and I'm always on the prowl for a female, minus her left leg, who wears a size 6-B. Sharing shoes can be the basis for a beautiful friendship. Her left for my right is a profitable swap. Since the demise of the shoe exchange originally in St. Louis and then Santa Monica-amputees are pretty much on their own. Of course, an amputee can have a custom-designed shoe made, but this is usually more costly than purchasing a pair and discarding one.

"I am an old hand-or I guess I should say and 'old foot'-at this business. I've used crutches for almost 55 years.

LOUISE
DEAR LOUISE: I have some wonderful news for you. If you want it know where in your area you can buy one shoe, write to me. One shot in my column asking readers if they knew of such a place brought hundreds of responses. Unipeds of the world-unite. It's a shoe-in!

DEAR ABBY: Let "AFRAID OF DOGS" try this: If a dog approaches in a menacing manner, say, "Shalom" in a firm but cordial way. Keep repeating it until the dog retreats and stops barking.

I tried this once by accident, and it worked, so now I do it every time a dog looks like it is going to attack me. As many as three barking dogs have come toward me at once, and I kept repeating, "Shalom, Shalom," and, thank goodness, it always worked.

SHALOM IN LOUISVILLE
DEAR SHALOM: Those dog must have boned up on their Hebrew!

DEAR ABBY: If your recent column on fire safety saves one life, its worth becomes priceless. May I add to it?

The day I arrived home from the hospital, virtually helpless in a heavy cast, the fire chief paid me a visit. He noted the nature of my disability, and pointed out alternate escape routes. He then placed a large red fluorescent sticker on my front door to notify the first responding fire fighter that there was an invalid in the house.

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time, the nation's fertility rate has dropped below the "replacement" level of 2.1 children per family that is needed to achieve zero population growth, the New York Times reports. While the nation's population is still growing, it appears that the annual rate of increase this year will be about 0.7 per cent, little more than half the annual rate of 1.3 per cent averaged during the 1960s, the Times said. The Times gave this account, based on new figures in the federal Monthly Vital Statistics Report: For 19 consecutive months both the birth rate and the number of actual births each month has been lower than in the same month the year before. Figures for the first nine months of this year showed the estimated fertility rate was 2.08 children per family. This compares to 2.39 children per family for the same period of 1971. Analysts say the significance of the new rate is that the country has broken through the "2.1 barrier" for the first time. The 2.1 children-per-family figure is what the nation would need to eventually stabilize its population, assuming no immigration, and this is the goal of the zero population growth movement. The figure is 2.1 rather than 2 to account for girls who die before reaching child-bearing age. If the 2.1 fertility rate were maintained for 70 years the population would stabilize at about 320 million. It is now about 209.3 million. The fertility rate decline is attributed by population experts to a variety of factors, including the desire of women to have smaller families, the growing proportion of young women who stay single, the number of married women who are having children later, the number of working wives, more effective contraception and liberalizing of abortion laws. The emu is the second largest bird in the world. The male sits on the eggs and after they hatch, he takes care of the chicks.

Ohio Transportation Center To Become Self-Supporting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's $30 million transportation research center which the federal government eventually will use to test automobiles for safety compliance will be in business on a self-supporting basis next year.

That word was given Tuesday to the Board of the Transportation Research Center of Ohio by Thomas Dudgeon, management consultant on the 8,100-acre facility, which straddles the Union-Logan county line northwest of Columbus.

Dudgeon said four test facilities used by private corporations alone will enable the center to go into the 1973-1974 fiscal year with income already earned of $450,000. The projected income for the fiscal year starting July 1 is $1,219,000, the consultant said.

"This is more than enough to meet operating costs, with money left over to contribute to the future development of the center," Dudgeon added.

Present construction plans call for the state to build an individual compliance test center for use by the U.S.

Department of Transportation. The center would be funded with revenue bonds. Completion is expected in 1974.

The state would enter into a long-term lease of the test facility to the department, with lease revenue earmarked for retirement of the bonds.

Besides the compliance facility, the state is building a crash simulator, skid pad, high speed test track, and vehicle dynamics area, all expected to be completed in the second half of 1973, James Asmus, acting executive director of the center, reported. He said the center also has a vehicle service area in the design stage.

Also to be included is a $1 million engineering building to be used by students of Ohio State University.

METAL SPINE—Metal model of human spine which will be used to study spinal movements often blamed for causing backaches is exhibited by its designer, Keith Markolf, at Berkeley, Calif. He's University of California research engineer.

Merchants Anticipate Big Season

NEW YORK (AP) — As if he didn't have problems before, Santa Claus is facing the most serious logistics challenge of his life this year, and observers of serious mien and limited vision say he must trade his sleigh for a 747 jet.

It strains credulity, they say, to believe that anything less than that can transport the avalanche of gifts that are expected to tumble out of fireplaces on Christmas Eve.

Rising personal incomes, booming retail sales and surveys of buyer intentions indicate that more money will be spent this Christmas than ever before in history.

Retailers already are reporting sales between 8 and 9 per cent higher than a year ago, when the country was beginning to emerge from a recession, and they expect the percentage to be even higher in pre-Christmas weeks.

During the Thanksgiving week, traditional kickoff for the Christmas selling season, retail stores sold $8.88 million of merchandise, about 8 per cent higher than in 1971, although one per cent lower than in the preceding week.

Fueling the surge is a resumption of growth in personal incomes, which had been swamped by inflation for several years. While inflation continues on an abating scale, incomes have grown strongly through the year.

In addition, and despite a 5.5 per cent jobless rate, more people are at work today than at any time in the nation's history.

Surveys indicate that the buying mood is strong almost everywhere, despite the irregular geographical pattern of prosperity that is often disguised by the national statistics.

A study by Sindlinger & Co. of Swarthmore, Pa., indicates that the country's total gift list will be enlarged by 25 per cent.

More people will give more gifts to more people this year than ever before, said Albert Sindlinger, president.

Sindlinger, whose staff asks thousands of questions by telephone seven days a week, claims to have found good news for aunts, uncles and cousins.

It was this tier of relatives, he said, who were cut from gift lists during the past three years of budget-pinching. Now they are being restored.

"This gift might not be as big but more people will receive them," said Sindlinger.

Some retailers would be inclined to differ with Sindlinger on the size of gifts because many of them feel big and exotic items have again caught the eye of shoppers. They are being heavily promoted.

In the previous three years some retailers made little attempt to attract interest in very expensive items, feeling they were ill-suited to both the mood and the pocketbook of consumers.

Now, both mood and pocketbook have changed, and the retailers, advertising media, aunts, uncles, cousins and kids are likely to benefit. The problems belong mainly to Old Nick — and probably to some parents who bought on credit.

The saber-toothed tiger, which existed only in prehistoric times, had two fang like teeth that were as long as eight inches.

It was perhaps inevitable that Frank McCarthy, himself an Army general, should have been dubbed to produce

3 Children Are Killed In Home Fire

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP) — Three small children died as fire swept their two-story, frame home in Washington Court House early this morning.

Their parents and an eight-year-old sister were hospitalized for burns and smoke inhalation.

Firemen said that George Baker and his three-year-old son, George Edward Jr., were asleep on a couch downstairs when Baker awakened shortly after midnight to find the center of his living room, where a gas space heater was located, aflame.

George Edward Jr., and two sisters, Sandra Diane, 6, and Roni Lynn, 1, died in the fire.

Mrs. Baker and the eight-year-old sister who survived, Loretta Grace, were upstairs.

A neighbor called firemen when he heard screams and saw Baker running from the house.

Fire Chief Maynard Denen said the entire downstairs of the house was aflame when firemen arrived. The house was completely gutted.

Denen said the cause was officially undetermined, although the gas heater was suspected.

Annual Gra-Y Induction Set

The 5th Annual Gra-Y Induction will be held tonight, open to parents, at the Episcopal Church. This year's Induction Ceremony will be handled by the Nicholas Gra-Y Club and the Rev. David Lattimer, Director of Student Finance of the Circleville Bible College, will be the guest speaker.

Boys representing Corwin, Mound, South Court, Nicholas, Atwater, High, Washington, Pickaway, Jackson, Monroe, Gra-Y clubs will be formally inducted. Following the ceremony, a reception will be held for parents, Gra-Y members and their guests.

Gra-Y has been an active program in the Pickaway County Area since the 1968 founding of the Pickaway County Family YMCA. Over 700 boys have participated in the many athletic activities and their school clubs during the five years.

Gra-Y members, for the month of December, will have the opportunity to participate in a Gra-Y Swim, Hockey tournament, Camp-in, and the 2nd Annual toy collection drive for "Operation Rudolph".

Portsmouth Store Fire Loss Heavy

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Fire gutted the downtown Factory Outlet shoe store building and caused extensive smoke damage to two adjacent structures Tuesday night.

All of the city's fire units were on the scene for several hours before bringing the blaze under control. There were no injuries.

Cause of the fire had not been determined, and no damage estimate was available.

C&SOE Orders New Generators

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. says it has received a $20 million order to supply two steam turbine electric generating sets for Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The turbine generators, rated at 410,971 kilowatts each, will be installed at the utility's Conesville station near Coshocton, Ohio.

The units are scheduled for completion in January 1967, and January, 1977.

TV Station Owner Arrested In Theft

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Lester White, owner of WSWOTV here, pleaded innocent in Municipal Court Tuesday to a charge of receiving and concealing $50,000 worth of equipment stolen from a Zanesville television station.

Clark County Sheriff's Detective Victor Foster said the equipment, taken from WHIZTV over the weekend, was found in a hanger at the Springfield Municipal Airport.

White also was charged in Zanesville with aiding and abetting a felony, breaking and entering and grand larceny.

the biography of MacArthur. McCarthy persevered for more than a decade to film the life of another flamboyant World War II general, George Patton.

Hollywood dearly loves to repeat success, and "Patton" was a real winner. It grossed $37 million against a cost of $12.5 million and won an Oscar for best picture. George C. Scott, as Patton, won the best-actor Oscar.

Richard Zanuck, who authorized "Patton" as production head of 20th Century-Fox, recently announced "MacArthur" as a project under his new contract with Universal. The producer, Frank McCarthy.

"I just spent a month at the MacArthur Memorial Library in Norfolk, Va.," said the urbane McCarthy in his new Universal office. "The literature on MacArthur is endless; there have been at least 150 books written about him."

"There is also voluminous material published by the government. MacArthur wrote his own versions of all his battles, and they are part of public record. Fortunately for our purposes, anything published by the Government Printing Office is in the public domain. So we can use all that material for the movie."

McCarthy said it's too early to think about casting of MacArthur. He's quite certain that it won't be George C. Scott.

"In fact," said McCarthy, "Scott was asked who he thought should play MacArthur. He suggested Cary Grant."

The producer admitted that he approached "MacArthur" with some reluctance, since he didn't want to appear imitative of himself. But he was counseled by a friend, Clare Boothe Luce, that the MacArthur story was far more complex and interesting than it appeared.

"She was right," McCarthy said. "I had known MacArthur only by his public acts. The real man is a fascinating figure."

The producer said he had not approached the MacArthur family for permission, since he doesn't intend to portray them and no clearances are needed to portray a dead man.

How to compress MacArthur's long career as a soldier is a problem. At present, McCarthy figures the script will cover only World War II and beyond, with emphasis on MacArthur's relief by President Harry S. Truman as commander during the Korean War.

Marquette Would Defeat UCLA, Vols Coach Claims

What's this? Ray Mears, Tennessee coach, comes right out and says Marquette would beat the mighty UCLA Bruins, who have ruled college basketball for six straight years and won 48 in a row.

No ifs, maybes or buts about it, either.

Mears made his surprising comment after the nationally fifth-ranked Marquette Warriors had whipped his 14th-ranked Vols Tuesday night in Milwaukee 56-30.

"Their pressure defense is better than anything I've seen UCLA play," declared Mears, who has coached Tennessee for 11 years. "If they played UCLA here at the Milwaukee Arena they'd beat them. They might even beat them out there." He referred to UCLA's home court in Los Angeles.

The Vols, who upset South Carolina 55-45 in their opener on Saturday, stayed in a zone for nearly the entire game while the Warriors forced them into numerous turnovers in chalking up their 74th straight victory at the Arena.

"You can't chase the ball against this team when you have big guys like we have," Mears said. "All I can say is that's the most devastating team we've played since I've been at Tennessee."

Led by Maurice Lucas, who scored 20 points, the Warriors zoomed to 16-4 lead and were never in danger.

Louisiana State upset 11th ranked Memphis State 94-81 and No. 13 North Carolina swamped Dartmouth 128-86 in other games involving teams in the

Bulls Blast Pistons; Win Tilt 130-108

Chicago Bulls Coach Dick Motta couldn't say enough about Garfield Heard and the hustling forward couldn't do enough.

"He's probably the most amazing player I've ever had," Motta said after Heard led a second-half shooting spree and finished with 24 points as the Bulls romped to a 130-108 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons Tuesday night.

"He's so quiet he never talks to me and I don't talk to him," Motta said. "but for the first time since I've been on this club I've got a forward who can rebound."

Bill Newton Chosen

Lineman Of Week

"If you wanted to go through a season and put together a film clip on how to play inside linebacker," said Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan of Auburn, "all you would need would be film of Bill Newton against Alabama."

Newton, a 218-pound junior, bolted into the national spotlight at Birmingham, Ala., last Saturday when he blocked two punts in the final six minutes, each going for touchdowns as Auburn knocked the second-ranked Crimson Tide from the unbeaten ranks 17-16.

In addition to the blocked punts, Newton made 13 solo tackles, assisted on 11 tackles and made four stops behind the line of scrimmage. The effort earned him recognition by The Associated Press today as the National College Lineman of the Week.

The Let's Go Boating committee reports there are over 5,900 marinas, boat yards and yacht clubs with waterfront property throughout the U.S.

Kent State Rips W. Va.; Wins 83-60

Four players scored in double figures and the team as a whole netted 55 per cent of its shots from the field as Kent State rolled over West Virginia Tech 83-60 Tuesday night.

Coach Frank Truitt, whose veteran squad last season had a surprisingly poor 7-17 mark, was understandably pleased.

"The team's coming along faster than I expected at this point," the Golden Flashes mentor said. "For two games we've shot over 50 per cent from the field — you've got to be encouraged."

"We're also playing a lot of younger guys and they're developing very well," he added.

But it was senior center Dwight Kenner who supplied most of the scoring punch with 17 points to lead both teams. Sophomore guard Rick Gates added 14, followed by senior guard Bob McEvoy with 12 and Cal Murphy, a 6-foot-8 transfer student, with 10.

Elsewhere Tuesday night, Louisville victimized Dayton 75-58 as Allen Murphy and Ken Bradley poured in 18 and 17 points, respectively, although Dayton's Donald Smith took scoring honors with 24 points.

Smith kept the Flyers in the game in the first half, but was held to just one basket during the first 16 minutes of the second period, while Louisville built up a 20-point lead.

In other action, Capital beat Heidelberg 67-53, Wooster dropped Wilberforce 94-74, Slippery Rock downed Ashland 94-86, Denison whipped John Carroll 97-72, Otterbein outdistanced Rio Grande 69-61, Edinboro State, Pa., defeated Ohio Wesleyan 74-66, and Calvin College, Mich., breezed by Walsh College 88-51.

State Service Districts Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A recommended geographic plan for placing more than 200 state agencies into uniform administrative districts was unveiled Tuesday by the executive director of the Ohio Commission on Local Government Services.

"The recommendations would help local governments get federal money they need, and would form logical regions within which local organizations could plan long range policy and coordinate functions," said John Hunger.

Hunger told newsmen the plan recommended by his 50-member group calls for creation of local planning regions within the boundaries of state administrative districts.

The plan, outlined in a report submitted to Gov. John Gilligan, proposes nine or 10 districts and 16 or 17 regions, with variations proposed in the southeastern Ohio Appalachia counties.

The recommendations are similar to those made in a study last summer by the Department of Economic and Community Development.

Georgetown Boy Said Doing Well

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Four-year-old Perry Holland was reported responding well to treatment for minor frostbite and exposure today at Brown County Hospital.

The youngster wandered away from his home Monday and was found early Tuesday by Mrs. Ruby Bohl on her farm, three miles from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Holland, the boy's parents.

Mrs. Bohl discovered Perry sleeping in the yard after spotting his puppy nearby.

Don Johnson Leads

In PBA Winnings

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The final tournament of 1972 may decide this year's total winnings race in the Professional Bowlers Association with Don Johnson of Akron now holding only a slim $2,218 edge.

Runner-up Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis, Mo., who has $54,430 to Johnson's $56,648, is entered in the Winston-Salem Invitational in Hawaii, but Johnson is not.

Ken Ellis Selected

Best On Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Ellis wasn't even supposed to be on the field Sunday. Unfortunately for Detroit, he wasn't only on it, he was all over it.

The Green Bay cornerback intercepted a pair of passes to trigger two scoring drives and recovered a fumble to blunt a Detroit scoring threat, helping the Packers to regain their ongame lead in the National Conference's Central Division with a 33-7 victory over the Lions.

Class AA Ohio All-Star Football Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Art Yaroch and Frank Hymore, a pair of double threats, are The Associated Press Ohio Class AA high school football players of the year.

Yaroch, Columbus Watterson's quarterback and the No. 1 Class AA state back, is equally adept at running or passing the ball.

Hymore, a 230-pound two-way tackle for Oregon Stritch who earned the top lineman honors in his class, performs as well on defense as he does on offense.

The selections, made with the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters, are based on regular season games only.

Yaroch accounted for 1,176 of Watterson's 1,694 yards. The 5-foot-10, 170-pound senior completed 42 of 75 passes for 833 yards and averaged 5.3 yards every time he ran.

Yaroch, who led Watterson to a 9-0-0 regular season record, beat out Frank Bonder of Warren Kennedy, Tom Grine of Fostoria, Joe Gaudio of Tiltonsville Buckeye South, Steve Kuehl of Lima Catholic and Bill Dallas of St. Paris Graham for the No. 1 back.

He also nipped Grine for the first team quarterbacking job with the versatile Fostoria star landing a first team berth as a defensive back.

Hymore, who graded 80 per cent as a blocker and averaged 11 tackles for the season, edged Keith Parker of Ironton, Garv Campbell of Cincinnati Harrison Jon Jones of Chagrin Falls and Rob Esquinas of Columbus DeSales for the lineman laurels.

Tom Frericks of Circleville was selected to a tackle berth on the third offensive team while Circleville's Dave Truex, Logan Elm's Rod Howard and Teays Valley's Howard Reed all received honorable mention on the Class AA All-State squad.

Dave Smith, Steubenville Catholic; linebackers John Althans, Chargin Falls Kenston; Dan Pfabe, Louisville Aquinas; and Dave Nye, Lakota; deep backs Greg Brooks, Albany Alexander; Dean Brown, Dayton Jefferson; and Steve Jackson, Poland.

BACK OF YEAR — Art Yaroch, Columbus Watterson.

LINEMAN OF YEAR — Frank Hymore, Oregon Stritch.

All County Schools Face League Action In Cage Confrontations

County cage action this week will find Westfall at home with Unioto Friday night and Bishop Flaget Saturday night, Logan Elm will host Adena and Teays Valley will travel to Hamilton Twp. in Friday night contests, both are idle Saturday.

Coach Jeff Bigam and his Mustangs will be seeking their first win of the season when they meet Unioto in a Scioto Valley Conference tilt.

The Mustangs have been hard at work trying to find the winning combination and get some scoring punch into the lineup.

Mike Peterson, the Mustangs big rebounder, reinjured his knee last week and it is doubtful if he will see any action this week.

UNIOTO is a solid club and will be coming into the fray after a big win over Adena last week.

They use a free lance type offense with each player capable of putting points on the board. On defense they will probably use a zone defense in an effort to contain the Mustangs.

Bishop Flaget has an experienced club with good size and shooting.

Coach Bigam will probably not name his starting lineup until Friday.

Teays Valley will be striving for its third consecutive Metropolitan League win at Hamilton Twp.

The Vikings dropped their season opener to Logan Elm but defeated Franklin Heights and West Jefferson in their next two outings.

"OUR kids are coming on and should get better as the season rolls along," Viking Coach Bob Hoover stated. "We are still concerned with turnovers and keeping our big man out of foul trouble but hope that experience will offset this."

Hamilton Twp. has been having its troubles this year but are always tough for the Vikings on the Rangers' floor.

Coach Hoover will open with Craig Pontius and Terry Lambert at the guards, Jim Logsdon at center with Jeff Anderson and Jerry Sabine working up front.

Logan Elm will be going after its fifth straight win and second victory in the Scioto Valley Conference when Adena comes to town.

The Braves hold wins over Zane Trace, Teays Valley, Unioto and Franklin Heights.

Balance and depth has been the key to the success of Coach Dave Little's Braves. They have good shooting, a sticky defense and proved they are capable of coming from behind against Franklin Heights.

Bell Ousted By Patriots; Garrett Back

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — General Manager Upton Bell of the struggling New England Patriots is out and star running back Carl Garrett is back in.

In a hectic day for the front office of the National Football League team Tuesday, the board of directors and Patriots' owner William Sullivan fired the 34-year-old Bell, a former professional football commissioner's son who started out as a $65-a-week dressing room attendant. Bell had one year remaining on a reported rich three-year contract.

The Patriots, whose 2-10 record is the second worst in the league with two games left, said in a statement they are seeking "the best available coach in America." They said the new coach will be given full authority to run the team.

In another move, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle ordered the Patriots to put Garrett back on the team. Garrett, the leading ground gainer on the team, had been suspended indefinitely for missing practices by interim coach Phil Bengtson.

Garrett, his representatives and Bell met with Rozelle in New York Monday for a six-hour hearing on the running back's situation.

Reds Chief Eyes Player Motivation

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Reds General Manager Bob Howsam doesn't think baseball players reach full potential and has assigned an assistant to look into a number of ideas including motivational research and self hypnosis.

Scout Rex Bowen has been working in the off season, looking into the possibilities. The Cincinnati Enquirer reported Wednesday morning in the first part of a two-part copyrighted series.

The goal of such study, Howsam said, is to produce optimum performance from each player.

He said the Reds already had made one change that may have helped the recently-completed season, in which they won the National League title, then lost to Oakland in the World Series.

Bowen said he learned that the color green, used under the peaks on baseball caps was the wrong color. Research showed that medium gray would be better, Howsam said. It allows all portions of the color spectrum to pass through in "soothing" degrees.

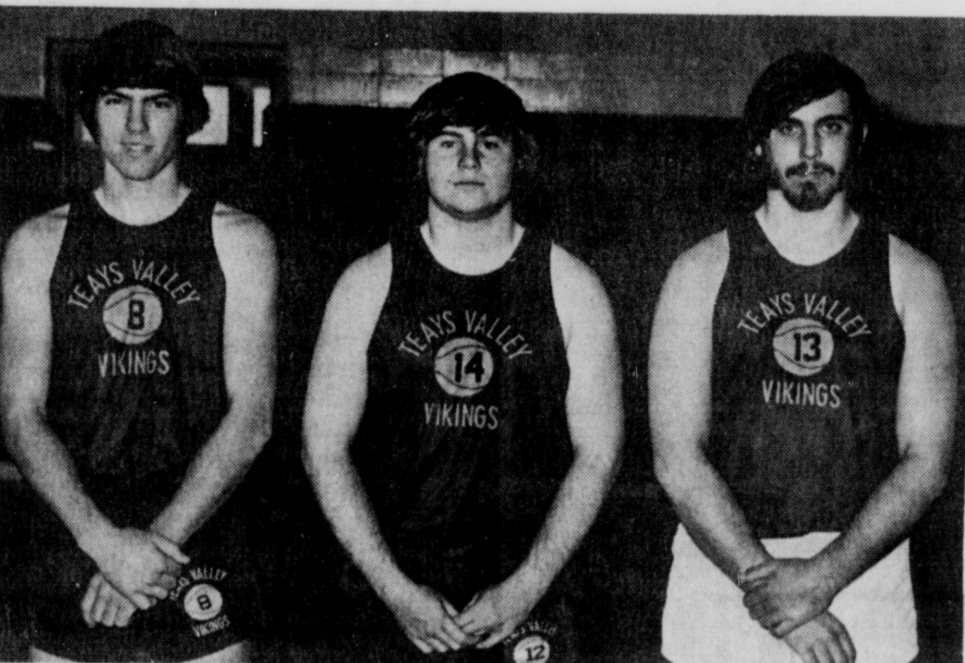

He made the color change last season. He doesn't claim the color change helped the team, but added "anything that will give us a little advantage I'll try."

Cincinnati Swords Smash Amerks, 9-1

Billy Inglis continues to set the scoring pace for the American Hockey League and the Cincinnati Swords still enjoy scoring sprees at the expense of the Rochester Americans.

Inglis slammed home two goals and came up with two assists Tuesday as the Swords ran up their biggest-ever scoring production in rolling over the Amerks 9-1 at Cincinnati.

Johnny Rodgers Pledges Smooth Road For Brothers

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Rodgers knew he'd come a long way. From the coldness of the Lincoln Jail, to the warmth of the Heisman Trophy.

"My road's been bumpy," said Nebraska's football hero. "I aim to make it smoother for my brothers. Nobody deserves the route I took."

Rodgers won the Heisman in a landslide. Oklahoma running back Greg Pruitt was a distant second. Johnny's fellow Cornhusker, middle guard Richard Glover, was third.

Tuesday's announcement came amid controversy over the 21-year-old Rodgers' brushes with the law, including a $90 gas station holdup not far from the Nebraska campus in 1970.

"I'm a better man today," said Rodgers. "It's no secret I've been in trouble. I feel I've overcome this. The award gives me a great deal of pride."

Rodgers received 301 first place votes and 1,310 points from newsmen voting for the Heisman Trophy. Pruitt got 117 first and 966 points. Glover's totals were 99 and 652.

Rodgers is a slender 175-pounder who caught 147 career passes for 2,667 yards and 26 touchdowns. He also returned kicks for a 16-yard average and ran the ball 133 times for 838 yards.

During the "Rodgers Era" at Nebraska, the Big Eight powerhouse won national titles in 1970 and 71 and went 8-2-1 this fall. Johnny will end his collegiate career New Year's night against Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl.

"Coach Bob Devaney should get a lot of credit for this," he said when receiving the Heisman. "When I would start going astray, he'd set me down for a talk. He was a stand-in father for the real father I never had. I love him and owe him a lot."

Quarterback, usually the dominant position in Heisman balloting, didn't far so well this time. The Big Eight kids scored a 1-2-3 sweep and quarterbacks had to settle for the next four positions with Louisiana State's Bert Jones, Alabama's Terry Davis, Penn State's John Huftnagel and Iowa State's George Amundsen.

Fordham swimming coach Joe Bernal is also head coach of the Gator Swim Club, one of the top amateur clubs in the nation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Running backs "Box Office Billy" Johnson of Widener College, Jimmy Edwards of Northeast Louisiana and Mike Deutsch of North Dakota were named to The Associated Press College Division All-America 1972 football team Tuesday, along with quarterback Bob Biggs of the University of California's Davis branch.

Also on the select 22-man squad are defensive end Joe Carbone of national champion Delaware, split end Roger Carr of runner-up Louisiana Tech and linebacker Jim Youngblood of Tennessee Tech, the only repeater from the 1971 team.

The rest of the offensive line consists of tight end James Moore of McNeese State, tackles David Taylor of Catawba and Robert Woods of Tennessee State, guards Gary Kipling of South Dakota and Curtis Wester of East Texas State and center Bob Daigle of Southwest Texas State.

Carbone, at 215 pounds, is the midge of the defensive line. Joining him are 250-pound end Barney Chavious of South Carolina State, with 260-pound Gary Johnson of Grambling and 280-pound Alex Price from Alcorn A&M at the tackles.

The other linebackers besides Youngblood are Waymond Bryant of Tennessee State, Stan Cherry of Morgan State and Brian Kelley of Cal Lutheran.

In the secondary are defensive backs Mike Amos of Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo, Steve Dennis of Grambling and Bruce Polen of William Penn.

Johnson, a 5-foot-9, 170-pound sophomore from Marcus Hook, Pa., was the leading runner in all of college football. He gained 1,556 yards in nine games and scored 27 touchdowns despite an asthmatic condition which sometimes incapacitates him for 10 minutes after a long run.

Edwards broke the 20-year-old Louisiana collegiate rushing mark with 1,328 yards while the 220-pound Deutsch was virtually unstoppable in short-yardage situations and matched Johnson's 27 touchdowns.

Biggs passed for 2,291 yards and 15 touchdowns as UC-Davis lost only to Pacific of the University Division, a game in which he piled up 246 yards through the air. The Aggies are in the Boardwalk Bowl Saturday against Massachusetts.

Firm May Sell Ships To Settle Lawsuit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A federal court here has proposed that the American Ship Building Co. get rid of nine ships in order to settle a Justice Department antitrust suit.

Moore has been the top tight end in Louisiana for three years while Carr, Louisiana Tech's wide receiver, caught 40 passes for a whopping 1,018, best of any receiver in the nation.

Johnny Bench Faces Operation

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Johnny Bench will enter a hospital here Saturday to undergo surgery for a lesion discovered in his right lung three months ago during routine Cincinnati Reds physicals.

"They really don't think it's anything malignant, but it might be necessary to remove it," said the catcher who was voted the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1972.

Bench said the "spot" was discovered on an X-ray in September, prior to the National League Playoffs in which the Reds defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Reds lost the World Series to the Oakland Athletics.

Bench said he had no physical trouble during that period and expects to be well enough to play this spring.

"I'm going to be 100 per cent," said the 24-year-old bachelor. "That's what the doctors say and that's what I have to believe. I have to think of it in that manner."

Dr. Luis Gonzalez, a thoracic and cardiovascular physician is in charge of Bench's treatment. Bench said he would enter the hospital Saturday with surgery scheduled for Monday.

"The overwhelming odds are that it is benign," said Dr. Gonzalez.

He planned one test today "to look into the bronchial tubes and hopefully to find out what the cause is. If it doesn't show what the cause is, we'll have to proceed as scheduled on Monday."

Dr. Gonzalez said that the lesion was "most likely the result of a fungus infection, or a little benign tumor, one of those two things."

"The appearance on the X-ray is much more indicative of a benign lesion rather than a malignant one," he added.

"We think everything is in his favor."

Name Little All-America Gridders

NEW YORK (AP) — Running backs "Box Office Billy" Johnson of Widener College, Jimmy Edwards of Northeast Louisiana and Mike Deutsch of North Dakota were named to The Associated Press College Division All-America 1972 football team Tuesday, along with quarterback Bob Biggs of the University of California's Davis branch.

Also on the select 22-man squad are defensive end Joe Carbone of national champion Delaware, split end Roger Carr of runner-up Louisiana Tech and linebacker Jim Youngblood of Tennessee Tech, the only repeater from the 1971 team.

The rest of the offensive line consists of tight end James Moore of McNeese State, tackles David Taylor of Catawba and Robert Woods of Tennessee State, guards Gary Kipling of South Dakota and Curtis Wester of East Texas State and center Bob Daigle of Southwest Texas State.

Carbone, at 215 pounds, is the midjet of the defensive line. Joining him are 250-pound end Barney Chavious of South Carolina State, with 260-pound Gary Johnson of Grambling and 280-pound Alex Price from Alcorn A&M at the tackles.

The other linebackers besides Youngblood are Waymond Bryant of Tennessee State, Stan Cherry of Morgan State and Brian Kelley of Cal Lutheran.

In the secondary are defensive backs Mike Amos of Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo, Steve Dennis of Grambling

and Bruce Polen of William Penn.

Johnson, a 5-foot-9, 170-pound sophomore from Marcus Hook, Pa., was the leading runner in all of college football. He gained 1,556 yards in nine games and scored 27 touchdowns despite an asthmatic condition which sometimes incapacitates him for 10 minutes after a long run.

Edwards broke the 20-year-old Louisiana collegiate rushing mark with 1,328 yards while the 220-pound Deutsch was virtually unstoppable in short-yardage situations and matched Johnson's 27 touchdowns.

Biggs passed for 2,291 yards and 15 touchdowns as UC-Davis lost only to Pacific of the University Division, a game in which he piled up 246 yards through the air. The Aggies are in the Boardwalk Bowl Saturday against Massachusetts.

Firm May Sell Ships To Settle Lawsuit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A federal court here has proposed that the American Ship Building Co. get rid of nine ships in order to settle a Justice Department antitrust suit.

Moore has been the top tight end in Louisiana for three years while Carr, Louisiana Tech's wide receiver, caught 40 passes for a whopping 1,018, best of any receiver in the nation.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Many beneficial influences grow stronger as the day passes; evening is one of those excellent times for putting in effect some new plan of action, for consulting with influential persons, or studying new plans for the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day for contacting important people you know and getting them to help you commercialize your particular abilities. You have fine ideas for improving your present outlets. Keep busy and stop worrying.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) There are several new outlets through which you can better express yourself at this time, so be active, progressive. Making new contacts who have ideas different from your own can produce fine results. Show you are a practical person.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Associates have fine ideas for adding to mutual benefits, so consult with them early and cooperate, become a more productive person. Evening is fine for more harmony with mate. A more practical approach is wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to find out what it is that associates have in mind and do your utmost to please them, get right benefits thereby. They will back you more generously, too. Take a more realistic approach to life in general.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you are creative, cooperative, and a constructive thinker, worker, you can make big strides in your field of endeavor now. Co-workers will then go along with your ideas with speed. Only light social fun tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get into recreational activities you really like during spare time today; do your utmost to please and amuse others. More affection for mate brings fine results. Don't be a penny-pincher.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get busy doing whatever will make your home more smoothly running, comfortable; enjoy it more in the future. Figure out how to have greater success in the days ahead also. Put that new plan to work in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can handle transportation matters well now as well as communicate ideally with everyone. Keep any professional appointment you may have made on time. Don't neglect your shopping and errands of importance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are anxious to acquire more than you have, so get the advice of an expert if you want to be successful in this. Improve property. Make budget changes so it is easier to follow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan how to have more personal pleasure in the future and make new friends who are more congenial than those you have now. Get out early to the social and quietly ingratiate yourself into the good graces of others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't get so concerned about the problems of others and concentrate on your own, then you get ahead faster and solve them wisely. Confer with some expert and get good ideas on how to progress and be happier. Avoid one who bickers.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Discuss with some good friend any uncertain matters that have been difficult for you to solve for some time, and get right answers. Show your appreciation to others by repaying important social debts. Have a delightful time in p.m.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those clever young people who knows how to benefit by conditions that are unusual and for whom problems are easy to solve. It would be well to slant the education along business lines, money and property management, etc. The mind is so very practical here that there will never be lack in this life, provided the ethical and religious ideas taught early are also followed and practical education given.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

NEW YORK (AP) — It is far better to light one candle than curse the darkness. Bear that in mind as the CBS, NBC and ABC television networks cover the last of the great candlelightings tonight.

It's the Apollo 17 launch from Cape Kennedy, Fla., heading for America's last manned moon landing in the foreseeable future. Network television coverage of it will start shortly after 9:30 p.m. EST if the launch isn't delayed.

For the old hands on the Cape, the night probably will contain an equal blend of jubilation, sadness, nostalgia and, if the burn is good, hard liquor in the saloons of nearby Cocoa Beach after the launch.

For Jay Barbree, the blastoff of astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt is a far cry from the first blastoff he covered for NBC News as a radio reporter.

A mouse was the only living thing aboard the rocket then. The day was July 21, the year 1958 and the missile a puny Thor-Able rocket that made a successful 5,000-mile suborbital flight.

"They didn't get the mouse back," Barbree recalled. "The poor mouse died."

Barbree, a native of Blakely, Ga., is NBC's resident newsmen at the Cape. You don't normally see him on television during the big ones. He's usually off covering them for the NBC radio network.

Barbree is a full-time resident who has lived in the Cape Kennedy for more than 14 years.

He's seen a lot of minor space launches and most of the big ones — from the Mercury program to preparations for tonight's last Apollo shot.

And although tonight's blastoff will be the most spectacular he's covered, he says the one that was the most memorable for him was the Feb. 20, 1962, launch that made John H. Glenn Jr. America's first man in space.

"I felt much closer to it," he said. "Glenn's shot was an achievement, a feeling that 'you've gone into space, you've really gone into space with an orbit.'"

"Even when we got to Apollo 11 and landing men on the moon, it was done so much in bits and pieces that when it actually happened, people talked about it as Apollo. Not as Apollo 11, but as Apollo."

Has the space program generally become a ho-hum event for those watching it on television or hearing about it on radio?

"Sure it has, to the viewer and listener," he said. "But from the journalist's standpoint, the space program still is a darn good story."

"You see, we put too much show biz in the space story to begin with. We depended too much on the liftoff, big programs and all that and people got excited like they do at football games."

"And it wore off," he said. "The 'gee whiz' part of it is gone. But the story isn't gone by any stretch of the imagination. I think now we're really reporting the story and covering what should be covered."

"We're really getting into what this actually is doing for this small planet we're on."

WORKING—Ohio State Highway Patrolman Theodore Coon prepares to ticket driver he is following for speeding on Route 22, west of the city. New radar system on the car's dashboard said the offender was driving 72 miles per hour in the 60 speed zone while both cars were headed in opposite directions. Ptl. Coon turned his car around and caught the driver.

Patrol's New Radar Voids Human Error

By DAVID AMEY
Herald Staff Writer

You'd better watch out, you'd better not cry, you'd better not pout, I'm telling you why — the Circleville post of the Ohio State Highway Patrol has a new, unbeatable car radar setup.

Called Kustom Signals, the portable unit is easily installed in any car. All that is required is a window for the boom radar finder and a dash board for the computerized monitor.

The device is especially designed for single-patrol cars and is especially effective on two-lane highways. It automatically and instantly tells the officer the speed of a vehicle moving towards him or away from him while he is either driving or on stationary patrol.

"It is a great addition to our enforcement fleet," Patrol Lt. Wayne Henry said. "We've needed a foolproof way to stop speeders, and this is it. We are always concerned about excessive speeders, but now we can concentrate on motorists who tempt the law — several miles per hour above the limit is unsafe cars, overweighted trucks who drive the maximum speed, and people who rush through school zones and intersections."

Ptl. Theodore Coon, who graduated from a class of instruction on the new radar system, is considered the post's expert. He listed step-by-step instructions for the radar device.

The unit is plugged into the car's cigarette lighter and warmed up about 10 minutes before use.

The officer manually sets a speed device compatible with road conditions and speed limits and then checks the calibration of the instrument.

This can be done in three ways and is essential to the units operation. "It makes it foolproof in the courts," Coon explained.

There is a calibration switch on the unit itself. When it is activated, "64" appears on the speed screen. This means the unit is ready. Or the officer can use tuning forks placed in front of the radar scope that send out sound waves equal to vibrations created by moving cars. Or he can activate another lever that will instantly show him his car's speed.

Once the unit is in operating order, it can be tested again at anytime to make certain calibration is correct. If there is any question, there is no readout.

The radar unit also is equipped for manual or automatic operation. As the officer picks up a car moving towards him, anywhere from a half mile out, that car's speed is registered on a digital readout scope. If the car is traveling at a speed in excess of the speed device control, the device automatically locks on that speed and a buzzer is activated. The officer retains image on his scope until the offender is stopped and able to see at exactly what speed he was traveling.

When the unit is on manual operation, much the same things happen. However, each on-coming car is checked until a speeder is discovered. Then the officer must decide whether to lock in on that car or continue his patrol.

Ptl. Coon said there are some limitations on the device while moving, the officer must retain speeds between 10 miles per hour and 79 miles per hour. However, if he is locked in on a car, the patrol car can exceed that limit.

A good example occurred Tuesday morning, according to Ptl. Coon, who was checking speeds on Route 104 in heavy work traffic when he clocked a sports car headed the other direction at a speed of 114 miles per hour.

The radar unit has been in operation in Pickaway County for about a week, according to the patrolman, and is one of 60 such units operated by the Ohio State Highway Patrol throughout the state.

Lt. Henry suggests that it might be unwise to tempt the law by speeding. It might be better to get a little earlier start and watch other drivers receive traffic violations.

The world's largest and most chillingly beautiful island, Greenland, is spread over 700,000 square miles. Its capital is Godthaab with 8,500 citizens. There are fewer than 50,000 Greenlanders.

Wintry Storms Sweep Wide Areas Of U.S.

A blizzard pounded the Sierra Nevada mountains early today with gale-force winds to 70 miles per hour, heavy snow and below zero temperatures.

Heavy snow warnings were posted for northern California and eastern Oregon and travelers advisories were issued for nearby areas because of strong winds and drifting snow. Gale warnings were flying along the west coast north of Point Reyes, Calif.

Winds up to 55 m.p.h. roared through Portland, Ore., as heavy snow accumulated in parts of Oregon, Washington and northern California to near sea level.

The central continent was in the icy grip of a storm centered over the Great Lakes. Bitter cold air over the plains produced sleet, snow, freezing rain and thunderstorms.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for Wisconsin and Upper Michigan and travelers were warned of freezing rain and drizzle from Oklahoma to Michigan.

A cold wave warning was posted for parts of Oklahoma and Texas, where temperatures fell to near zero in the panhandles. Denver's thermometer hit 12.

The same central continent storm produced numerous showers and thundershowers in the southeast. Two inches of rain fell at Macon, Ga., and an estimated 4 inches soaked areas south of Macon during the night.

The Florida peninsula was partly cloudy and warm, with temperatures in the 70s.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 32 at Worland, Wyo., to 79 at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Boston Slayings Without Link?

BOSTON (AP) — The deaths of four young women and the disappearance of another in the Boston area have prompted comparisons with the Boston Strangler murders of 10 years ago.

But "there's nothing to indicate these cases are all related," Boston Det. Lt. Edward F. Sherry said Monday.

Capt. John V. Silk of the Lynn police echoed the investigators' views, saying, "So far we haven't come up with anything — except that three of them went to the same school."

Sherry said a number of girls in Boston have been accosted recently while hitchhiking — a trend believed common in at least some of the five cases. They have talked to police, but the descriptions of their assailants were different in each case, he said.

Bear Cages Used

To Ship Hashish

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — An international hashish smuggling ring that has been using the cages of live Himalayan bears to hide contraband has been broken up in the mountains of Northern California, federal agents say.

U.S. Customs officers said Monday four men have been arrested and about half of an estimated $500,000 worth of hashish has been recovered.

But the two bears used to transport the hashish escaped before agents closed in on the remote mountain town of Big Bend, 240 miles northeast of San Francisco, they added.

Kissinger Undecided On Future Position?

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger will decide within one month whether he will return to his professorship in the government department at Harvard, according to a university official.

Prof. James Q. Wilson said on Monday he met in Washington with Kissinger Nov. 28, and Kissinger "indicated that he had not yet made a decision on his plans."

WORKING—Ohio State Highway Patrolman Theodore Coon prepares to ticket driver he is following for speeding on Route 22, west of the city. New radar system on the car's dashboard said the offender was driving 72 miles per hour in the 60 speed zone while both cars were headed in opposite directions. Ptl. Coon turned his car around and caught the driver.

Patrol's New Radar Voids Human Error

By DAVID AMEY
Herald Staff Writer

You'd better watch out, you'd better not cry, you'd better not pout, I'm telling you why — the Circleville post of the Ohio State Highway Patrol has a new, unbeatable car radar setup.

Called Kustom Signals, the portable unit is easily installed in any car. All that is required is a window for the boom radar finder and a dash board for the computerized monitor.

The device is especially designed for single-patrol cars and is especially effective on two-lane highways. It automatically and instantly tells the officer the speed of a vehicle moving towards him or away from him while he is either driving or on stationary patrol.

"It is a great addition to our enforcement fleet," Patrol Lt. Wayne Henry said. "We've needed a foolproof way to stop speeders, and this is it. We are always concerned about excessive speeders, but now we can concentrate on motorists who tempt the law — several miles per hour above the limit is unsafe cars, overweighted trucks who drive the maximum speed, and people who rush through school zones and intersections."

Ptl. Theodore Coon, who graduated from a class of instruction on the new radar system, is considered the post's expert. He listed step-by-step instructions for the radar device.

The unit is plugged into the car's cigarette lighter and warmed up about 10 minutes before use.

The officer manually sets a speed device compatible with road conditions and speed limits and then checks the calibration of the instrument.

This can be done in three ways and is essential to the units operation. "It makes it foolproof in the courts," Coon explained.

There is a calibration switch on the unit itself. When it is activated, "64" appears on the speed screen. This means the unit is ready. Or the officer can use tuning forks placed in front of the radar scope that send out sound waves equal to vibrations created by moving cars. Or he can activate another lever that will instantly show him his car's speed.

Once the unit is in operating order, it can be tested again at anytime to make certain calibration is correct. If there is any question, there is no readout.

The radar unit also is equipped for manual or automatic operation. As the officer picks up a car moving towards him, anywhere from a half mile out, that car's speed is registered on a digital readout scope. If the car is traveling at a speed in excess of the speed device control, the device automatically locks on that speed and a buzzer is activated. The officer retains image on his scope until the offender is stopped and able to see at exactly what speed he was traveling.

When the unit is on manual operation, much the same things happen. However, each on-coming car is checked until a speeder is discovered. Then the officer must decide whether to lock in on that car or continue his patrol.

Ptl. Coon said there are some limitations on the device while moving, the officer must retain speeds between 10 miles per hour and 79 miles per hour. However, if he is locked in on a car, the patrol car can exceed that limit.

A good example occurred Tuesday morning, according to Ptl. Coon, who was checking speeds on Route 104 in heavy work traffic when he clocked a sports car headed the other direction at a speed of 114 miles per hour.

The radar unit has been in operation in Pickaway County for about a week, according to the patrolman, and is one of 60 such units operated by the Ohio State Highway Patrol throughout the state.

Lt. Henry suggests that it might be unwise to tempt the law by speeding. It might be better to get a little earlier start and watch other drivers receive traffic violations.

Wintry Storms Sweep Wide Areas Of U.S.

A blizzard pounded the Sierra Nevada mountains early today with gale-force winds to 70 miles per hour, heavy snow and below zero temperatures.

Heavy snow warnings were posted for northern California and eastern Oregon and travelers advisories were issued for nearby areas because of strong winds and drifting snow. Gale warnings were flying along the west coast north of Point Reyes, Calif.

Winds up to 55 m.p.h. roared through Portland, Ore., as heavy snow accumulated in parts of Oregon, Washington and northern California to near sea level.

The central continent was in the icy grip of a storm centered over the Great Lakes. Bitter cold air over the plains produced sleet, snow, freezing rain and thunderstorms.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for Wisconsin and Upper Michigan and travelers were warned of freezing rain and drizzle from Oklahoma to Michigan.

A cold wave warning was posted for parts of Oklahoma and Texas, where temperatures fell to near zero in the panhandles. Denver's thermometer hit 12.

The same central continent storm produced numerous showers and thundershowers in the southeast. Two inches of rain fell at Macon, Ga., and an estimated 4 inches soaked areas south of Macon during the night.

The Florida peninsula was partly cloudy and warm, with temperatures in the 70s.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 32 at Worland, Wyo., to 79 at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Boston Slayings

Without Link?

BOSTON (AP) — The deaths of four young women and the disappearance of another in the Boston area have prompted comparisons with the Boston Strangler murders of 10 years ago.

But "there's nothing to indicate these cases are all related," Boston Det. Lt. Edward F. Sherry said Monday.

Capt. John V. Silk of the Lynn police echoed the investigators' views, saying, "So far we haven't come up with anything — except that three of them went to the same school."

Sherry said a number of girls in Boston have been accosted recently while hitchhiking — a trend believed common in at least some of the five cases. They have talked to police, but the descriptions of their assailants were different in each case, he said.

Bear Cages Used

To Ship Hashish

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — An international hashish smuggling ring that has been using the cages of live Himalayan bears to hide contraband has been broken up in the mountains of Northern California, federal agents say.

U.S. Customs officers said Monday four men have been arrested and about half of an estimated $500,000 worth of hashish has been recovered.

But the two bears used to transport the hashish escaped before agents closed in on the remote mountain town of Big Bend, 240 miles northeast of San Francisco, they added.

Kissinger Undecided On Future Position?

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger will decide within one month whether he will return to his professorship in the government department at Harvard, according to a university official.

Prof. James Q. Wilson said on Monday he met in Washington with Kissinger Nov. 28, and Kissinger "indicated that he had not yet made a decision on his plans."
